It's time

Some might call it a time consuming hobby.

Clock collecting becomes almost an obsession as enthusiasts attempt to expand their collections, sometimes searching for years for the right clock.

That causes some serious collectors to say that there might be some people who are not suited for collecting antique clocks.

"A lot of people should not own a wind-up clock," Bruce Clarke, president of the Arrowhead Chapter of the National Association of Watch and Clock Collectors, said. Clarke explained that because antique clocks are of delicate and intricate nature, some people do not understand how to handle them.

Collecting clocks takes a type of care that is more concerned with the time an antique clock keeps than the time it takes to repair it, Clarke noted.

He said it took him years to find two missing pieces for one of his clocks.

"You might look for years until until you find everything," Clarke noted.

But for those who have the patience, it can be a rewarding hobby.

Clarke and his wife, Julia, have been collecting clocks for several years. Their collection includes clocks from Europe and America, some barely 50 years old and others well over a century old — and still ticking.

They say their collection is similar to those of many of the members of their local club, which meets once a month at the Upland Women's Club.

Nationally, the association has close to 50,000 members, Clarke said. The Arrowhead Chapter, which draws enthusiasts from "Pasadena to Sedona, Ariz.," has around 50 members who meet to discuss their mutual hobby — clocks and watches.

People are attracted to clock collecting for several reasons, including the sense of history that comes from owning a relic from another era, the Clarks said.

"It's the history thing," said Clarke. "It's just something that people who are mechanical like to collect."

Each of the clocks in the collection has a different background, whether it was stored in the back of a Mid-Western barn, taken from an American's house in Chile or was a miniature sample clock used by traveling salesmen in the Old West.

Though mechanical knowledge is not required for a clock collector, it does help, admitted Clarke, who is dean of industrial studies at Mt. San Antonio College.

Clarke smiled as he recalled one of his first projects — piecing together a clock from an ice cube tray full of parts he bought. He had no instruction manual, nor even a good idea of what the clock should look like.

Now the clock occupies a place of distinction in the Clarke's living room. And only one piece out of the thousands in the tray was missing, Clarke said.

The experience hooked Clarke and his wife, who were soon on the trail of estate sales, auctions and antique stores, looking for additions to their burgeoning collection.

The tastes of collectors are as varied as the types of antique clocks, Clarke said.

Some prefer to specialize in a particular manufacturer or design. Others only want clocks from certain countries.

"A lot of people won't collect English clocks because they want to be purists," Clarke noted.

And many are only interested in limited editions or series issued for particular occasions. The Clarks, however, have no particular "brand" loyalties, though they do profess an interest in combinations of clocks and statues.

Manufacturers of mechanical clocks experienced a "golden age" from the late 1800s to the 1930s, Clarke explained. He added that the clocks made during that era were of a better grade and there were more companies making clocks.

Some collectors suspend convention and try to find newer, electric clocks.

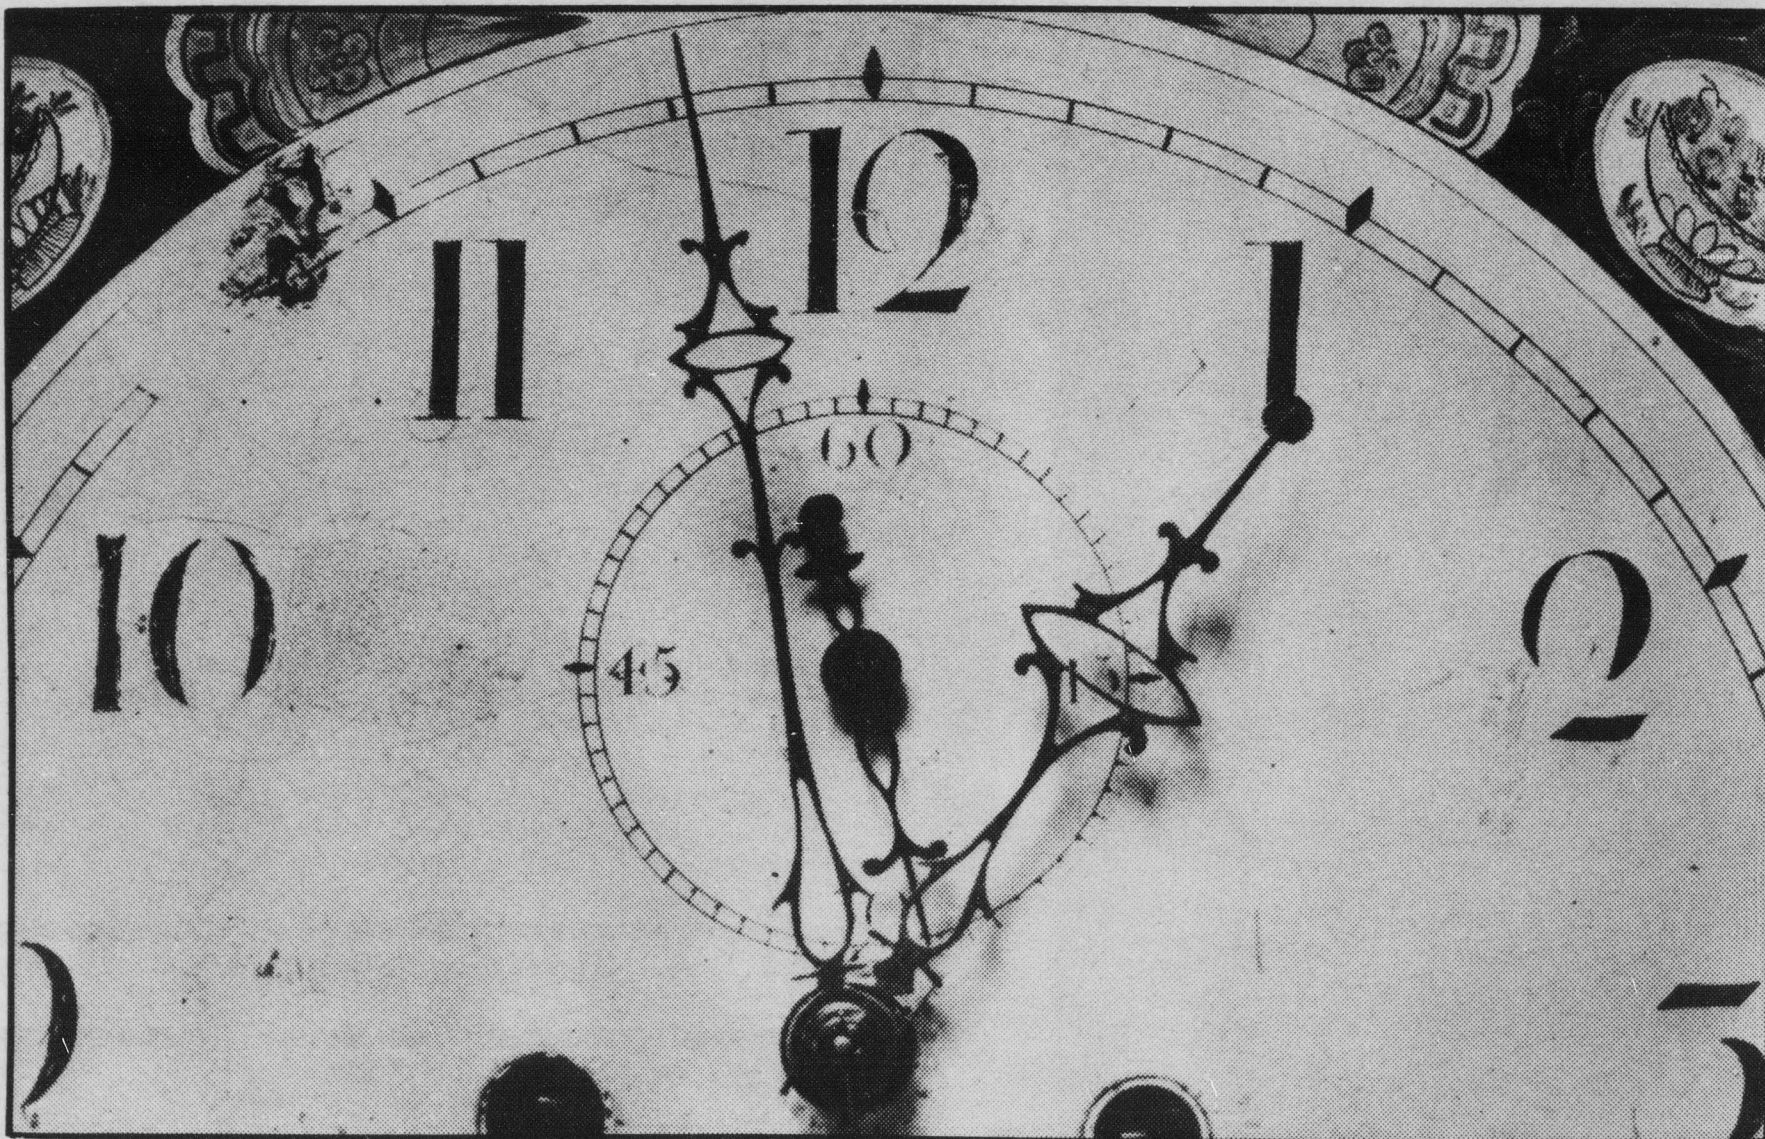

"But that's not charming at all," laughed Julia Clarke. "If they (club members) collect anything new, it's a limited edition."

Wall and shelf space at the Clarks' home is at a premium — illustrating a problem universal to serious clock collectors.

"We've stopped collecting," she said.

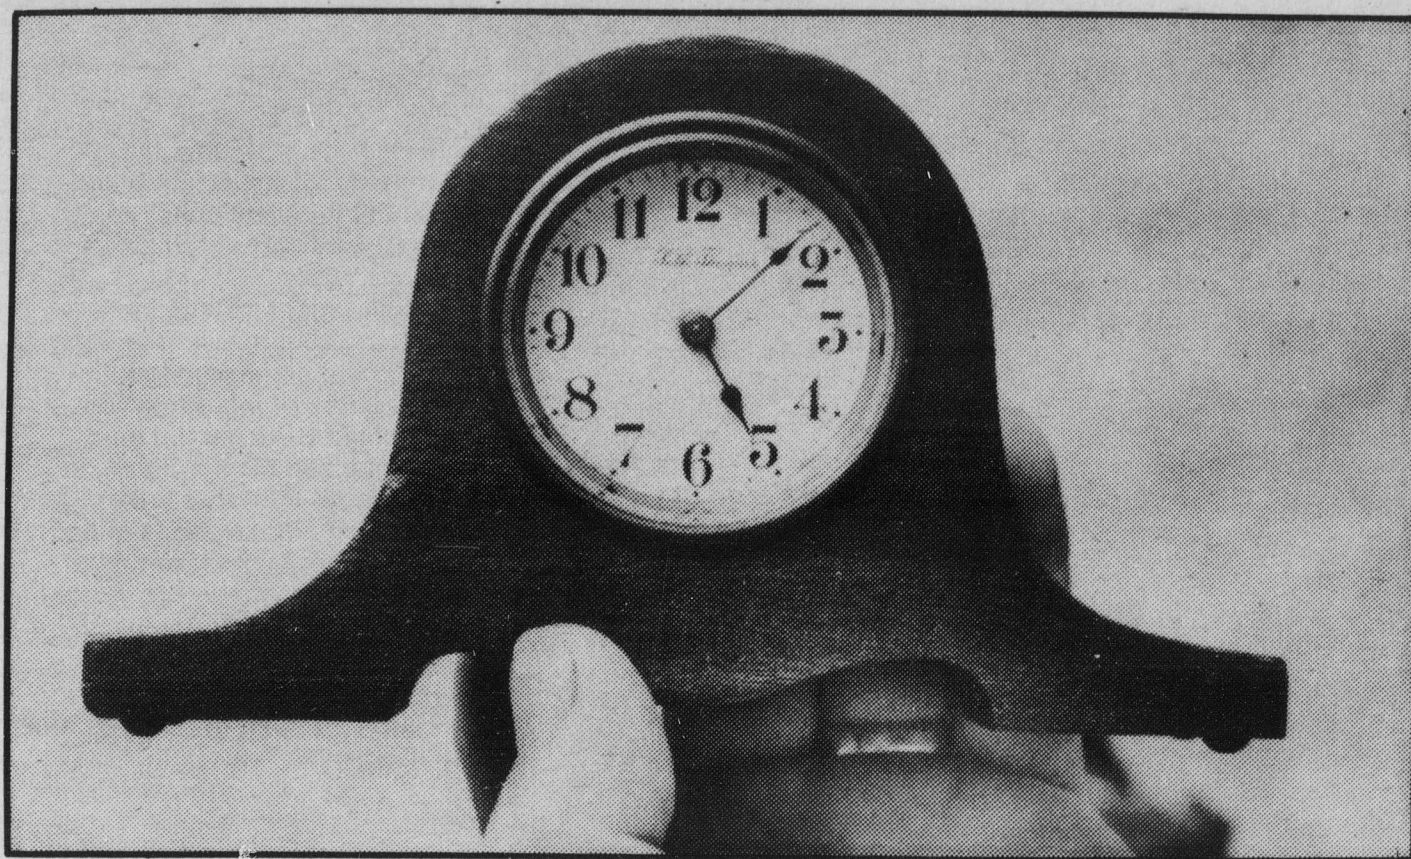

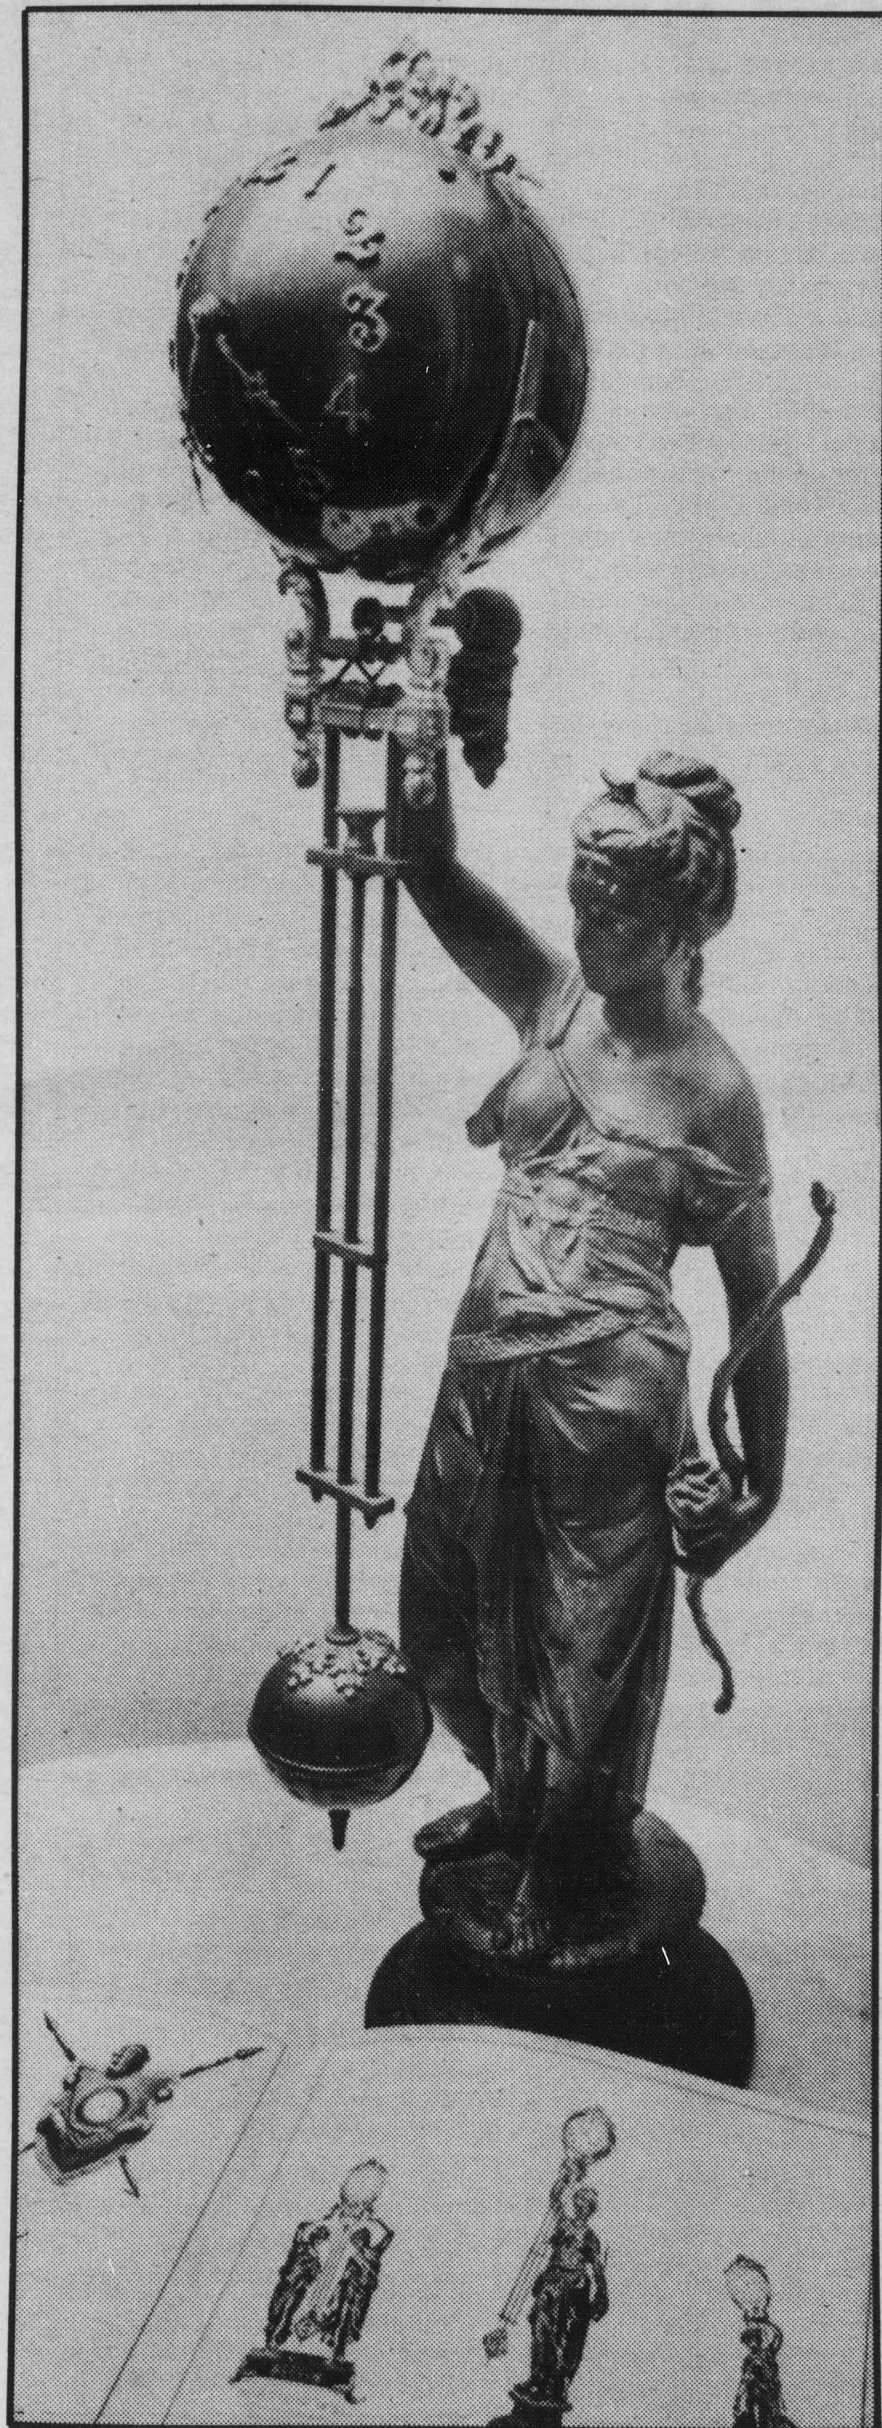

Glancing at his wife, Clarke added that, "We've stopped until something better comes along."

That is, if they have the time. □ to collect

A rare clock, called a "swinger" because of the dual weights that cause the movements to work, is part of Bruce and Julia Clarke's collection (at left). This particular one features the Roman goddess Diana, the goddess of the hunt, and her bow. A catalogue beneath the clock shows the Clarke's clock. One of the more unusual clocks in their collection is a so-called "Saddlebag" clock (top), a miniature time piece carried by salesmen in saddlebags as they traveled on horseback. Just about every wall, table and mantle in the Clarke's home holds examples of their unique hobby (above), including clocks from various eras.

Proposed Lewis shopping center upsets neighbors

By Chris Keating

Before she moved to northwest Upland, Gayle Dillon-Hager her husband spent hours researching every detail about the community.

Dillon-Hager said she knew everything about Upland and the surrounding neighborhood that was possible — including how well Upland students did on state scholastic tests. She wanted to be sure that there wouldn't be any surprises after moving to her brand-new home in one of the city's newest residential sections.

with the proposed Lewis Homes center, the residents are prepared to fight.

Dillon-Hager said she will move from Upland if they lose. She is hopeful that the coalition's protests might sway the planning commission.

She said that her experience as a sales representative for ERA Property Center in Upland has showed her that a shopping center would detract from the neighborhood's attractiveness to buyers.

Ironically, Lewis Homes has used the same premise to support the center — that more shopping would attract buyers to other cities to do grocery shopping. A neighborhood center, he concluded, would broaden the city's economic base.

Such arguments don't concern Dillon-Hager. A shopping center does.

"We're the ones who live there and we don't want it," she said flatly.

A concern of Dillon-Hager's is that the center would attract major fast food restaurants. She claimed that it will be "hard to convince me that Kentucky Fried Chicken smell coming across my back yard" would add to the neighborhood's attractiveness.

"They drive a long way to work," Dillon-Hager said, referring to her neighbors. "If they wanted to live near shopping, they'd buy (a home) near El Monte."

Two-and-a-half years later, she's found her surprise.

Lewis Homes of California, an Upland-based developer, has applied for a zone change and general plan amendment in order to allow development of a neighborhood shopping center at 21st Street and Mountain Avenue, which is directly behind Dillon-Hager's home at 2153 Erin Avenue.

"We moved up to that area because it was away from the shopping," sighed Dillon-Hager, who has organized Concerned Citizens of Northwest Upland, a coalition of residents opposing Lewis' application.

The coalition is preparing for a final showdown at a planning commission meeting tonight. Funded by shopping center owners that could be competing Upland.

Since she was first notified of the application, Dillon-Hager and others in the coalition have been making attempts to influence the planning commission by "showing our numbers" at meetings.

A petition with almost 300 signatures — some of them not residents — was presented in opposition to the project. Dillon-Hager said she has been surprised at the number of her neighbors that have been opposed to the zone change, which she felt would lead to more development in the northwest section.

"I didn't think we'd get the support," she said.

Lewis has supported his case for a center with a marketing study that shows residents go to

"I'd go crazy," she added.

Richard Lewis, president of Lewis Homes, has said that all the plans for the center are only tentative, and that the company has not contacted any prospective tenants yet. The protests have aroused concern with Lewis, who arranged a meeting between one of his executives and the Concerned Citizens group. Dillon-Hager was sure that the meeting would not alter her attitude about the project.

"I don't see what they can say to us," Dillon-Hager said.

She has countered Lewis' arguments with her own. The affluent residents of the northwest section do not mind driving long distances, she said. There is also a concern that the center would be vacant.

Gayle Dillon-Hager, of Upland, has formed a coalition of residents opposed to further commercial development in the city's northwest section.

Kids put their dreams on Upland's sidewalks

By Terri Tirella

Creative children, varying in age from 3 to 18, were given the opportunity to sketch their fantasies in chalk on downtown Upland streets.

About 46 children labored over colorful creations along Second and Ninth Streets, for the fourth annual Sidewalk Art Contest, sponsored by the Upland Recreation Department and downtown merchants recently.

The would-be Picassos had their work displayed and judged for use of color, creativity and quality of work.

Each contestant received chalk and one hour to prepare an entry. The results ranged from simple to complex, intensely colorful works.

"We had the largest pre-registration ever," Cyndi Testa, recreation supervisor, said. Prizes given to contest winners were donated by the downtown merchants.

First place was a $10 gift certificate; second place was a $5 gift certificate and third place

Executive Women International, Pomona Valley Chapter, will hold a "Fun Nite for Representative — Fashion Fantasies" tonight at Claremont Tennis Club. Hospitality will be at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m. Past presidents of the chapter will be the guests.

Members will be dressed to represent the firms they work for. The past presidents will serve as judges and prizes will be awarded.

Membership Director Frances Keeney, will introduce Darla Aveni and Betty Jimenez as Representative and Associate Representative of Manpower, Inc.

was a certificate for $2.50 at McDonalds, Testa said. All young artists received a participation ribbon.

Winning in the division for 3- to 5-year-olds were Stephanie Latham, first; Erin Martinez, second; and Wayne Haggard, third.

In the division for 6- to 7-year-olds, Christopher Cadarette's chalk drawing of a painter with a beret won first place honors. Brent Snyder placing second and Laurie Irvin took third.

A colorful drawing of a zoo was the first place winner in the division for 8- to 9-year-olds. Brandon Irwin took top honors for his caged animals, paths and green grass surroundings.

A unicorn and rainbow drawing by Katie Horak placed second in the 8- to 9-year-olds' competition. Eileen Latona's chalk drawing of a cat took third.

Taking first place in competition for 10- to 11-year-olds was Jennifer Cushnie and her "Juggling Bear" drawing. Rudy Numez placed second. There was no third place award.

In the contest for 12- to 18-year-olds, Gilbert Jumping Eagle's drawing of an Indian sun dance pole took top honors. Mandy Horak placed second and tying for third place were Obie Hughes and Kurt Hartleb.

Jumping Eagle got inspiration for his winning entry from seeing the dance done on a visit to a reservation last summer. "The buffalo head is like a religious thing. When the medicine man cures you of a disease you dance around (the pole)," he said.

A Sioux Indian, the 16-year-old artist said the cured person is pierced and tied with the string and poles, then the former patient dances a special dance for a week before going into a steam bath.

"If they can't do the dance someone in your family can dance for you," he said.

Art is a career Jumping Eagle would like to pursue. "I want to be an illustrator, but I haven't gotten any lessons or any training."

Katie Horak chose to draw a unicorn because "that's what I'm best at drawing. I did bring a picture (to draw from) but it's not exactly like the drawing."

The 8-year-old Upland resident said she puts rainbows in her work because "I like to get a lot of color into pictures." She said she hopes to be an artist and teach other people how to draw.

First place winner Irwin said drawing animals was the most difficult part of his zoo picture.

"The grass was hard to get it dark enough (to show up)," the 9-year-old boy said. □

Cyclist gathers a happy following

By Phillip Boas

On Sunday mornings, long before most people wake, members of the Alta Loma Bike Club are gliding quietly through the West Valley.

Wearing helmets, gloves and black shorts, the cyclists begin their weekly excursions every Sunday at Bud's Bike Shop in Rancho Cucamonga. After riding a few hours to their ever-changing destination, they meet at a restaurant for breakfast together.

It all started last April, the idea of cyclist Mike Boar, whose father once owned Bud's. Boar decided to gather business receipts from the shop and invite past customers to ride with him on Sundays.

"I got tired of riding by myself," said Boar.

Of the 100 he sent letters to, 20 agreed with the idea. Today there are 40 members and Boar predicts a day when a strong family chapter will form.

"There is definitely a trend of upper-middle class people coming out," said Boar. "These are mainly people in respectable careers who want to meet literate people."

Presently, 75 percent of the membership is male. "A lot of women are intimidated by cycling. They tend to be scared or think that it's unfeminine to ride a bike," Boar explained.

One female member is Laura Blaylock of Etiwanda who said she heard about the club when she took her bike to Bud's Bike Shop to be repaired. She enjoys the weekly rides.

"I'm always ready to go out. It's not hard to keep up," she said.

El Monte resident Dick Perez drives to Bud's every Sunday to ride with the group. "I like the club here, the people are great," he said.

Once an avid jogger, Perez took up cycling because of frequent running injuries. "When I was running it seemed like every six months I'd get an injury, but with cycling I just get stronger."

Eight-year-old Heather Himmel, the youngest member of the group, rides a small ten-speed she got for Christmas. "I wanted to do some good riding," she said. "It's fun and it's not always hard unless there are hills. I hate hills."

Boar said anyone is welcome to join the club, just by showing up at 7:30 a.m. at Bud's Bike Shop at 8643 Base Line Road any Sunday. However, he recommended only those who have engaged in a regular exercise program attempt the ride.

"For their own good, I wouldn't encourage someone who is overweight, who hasn't had the experience of riding 50 miles in a day."

Because of the hills on many of the routes, Boar suggests club members have at least five gears on their bikes.

The cyclists have been covering 20 to 50 miles on their West Valley rides, and are planning some longer trips outside the area. One will be a "beach ride" from Anaheim to Huntington Beach, and Boar is hoping to take the group to San Diego on a long-distance tour.

Besides the Sunday rides, the club meets once a month in what Boar calls a "pot luck quasi-social thing." At the meetings, club members discuss future club goals and the dos and don'ts of cycling.

"There's no antagonism. There's no competition. It's just a happy environment," said Boar. "It's really neat." □

VIP urges protest of Medicare costs

Members of VIP senior citizens in Rancho Cucamonga are urging other seniors to write their congressmen about proposed cuts of $8 million in Medicare.

The seniors are also planning a Las Vegas turn-around to the Four Queens Hotel on Aug. 7. For more information, call Rosalie at 989-2447 or see her on Thursday at the Neighborhood Center, 9791 Arrow Highway, Rancho Cucamonga.

Convention on Aug. 11 from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Refunders, people who take advantage of coupon and refund offers from product manufacturers, are a growing segment of the population, said Refunders president Nadia Medina, Upland.

"We are hoping to have 150 people show up for the convention, which is the first one to be held locally. It will be a chance to trade qualifiers, forms and coupons and to meet other refunders. It should be a lot of fun," Medina said.

The convention will provide a time for local refunders to gather and exchange coupons and qualifiers during the trading section of the convention. For beginners, a special beginners seminar, will provide information and tips about how to "turn trash into cash" by taking advantage of product refunds.

Fee is $5 for trading only and $6 for trading and beginners seminar.

The convention site will be the Junior Women's Club, 343 W. 12th St. (east of Indian Hill Boulevard and south of Foothill Boulevard).

Those wishing to attend can register by mail, thereby qualifying themselves for a special drawing, by mailing their check to Claremont Junior Women's Club c/o Nadia Medina, 1131 W. 17th St., Upland, Calif. 91786. Registration will also be accepted at the door.

Concert in the Park series to feature a Rich Experience

By Terri Tirella

The Rich Experience band will perform tonight at 6 in the Concerts in the Park series at Vineyard Park, on the corner of Base Line Road and Vineyard Avenue in Rancho Cucamonga.

"We play everything from old standards, classical to current top 40 music," said Rich Martinez, guitarist from the group. The band will probably concentrate on its top 40 repertoire at the Vineyard Park performance, Martinez said.

Many of the band members also have full-time local careers. "George Urena is manager of Alta Loma Music and directs (musical) workshops through the music store (classes); Todd (Trent) is drummer; he is manager of Ontario Music," Martinez said.

He and lead singer Janet Phillips teach elementary school. Phillips teaches kindergarten for Upland School District and Martinez is a fourth-grade teacher in Chino.

Urena and Martinez have performed together for the past 10 years. "We went to high school together ... and played in bands together," Martinez said. While both were working at Alta Loma Music, they were encouraged to get a band together.

"We have played a lot of weddings. We're a classy group and provide a rich, musical experience," he said.

The group's goal is to master a variety of musical styles to appeal to a wide range of tastes for people at parties or wedding receptions. "Our long-term goals are recording," Martinez said. "We have songs we want to record and will do some recording this summer."

Rich in variety, professional background and experience, the Rich Experience, a local band, specializes in music for all ages. Members include (l-r) George Urena, Rich Martinez, Janet Phillips and Todd Trent.

Upland man torchbearer

An Upland man carried the Olympic torch on part of its journey through Southern California Monday.

Frank Robertson of 630 Pacific Court ran his 1-kilometer leg of the torch relay near Norco, and said he could have run another.

"The emotion that was being poured out was mind-boggling," he said. "It was one of the most moving things that has ever happened to me."

As he finished his run, Robertson said he became very emotional. "If there weren't tears in my eyes, they were in my heart."

When his leg was over, he was approached by autograph-seeking children, and a woman who asked him to hold her 2-week-old baby so she could take a picture of them together.

Like all the torchbearers, Robertson will get to keep the torch he carried. "It's going to be one of my most precious possessions next to my family."

He said it was humbling to share in the glory of the torch relay. "The people weren't cheering me, they were cheering the torch and what it stands for."

COINS

By Gary L. Palmer
Copley News Service

When it comes to numismatics, Canada continues to amaze me. Collectors there know without fail that each year will bring a new dollar, commemorating something of significance.

But this year Canada has outdone itself.

First there was the new Toronto silver dollar. Then a special new voyageur canoe nickel dollar joined our northern neighbor's coins. Now a third dollar coin is joining the first two with a 1984 date.

Canada sprang yet another pleasant surprise on collectors when it announced plans to strike a circulating pure nickel dollar to mark the 450th anniversary of the landing of French explorer Jacques Cartier on the shores of Canada.

There is also to be a $100 gold coin honoring Cartier, but the nickel dollar was an unexpected bonus.

The latest numismatic treasure has a unique reverse design, depicting his landing July 24, 1534, at Gaspé, Quebec.

Cartier, with sword held aloft, hilt upward, is flanked by two of his men in armor. The large cross he planted at Gaspé is behind the men and two of his three vessels can be seen on the horizon.

A scroll across the bottom reads: 1534 JACQUES CARTIER 1984.

The obverse, as usual, features the Arnold Machin portrait of Queen Elizabeth II, surrounded by the words CANADA 1984 DOLLAR around the top rim and ELIZABETH II at the bottom.

They will be available at face value — about 75 U.S. cents — and at least 5 million are to be struck.

It's understood more will be produced should demand warrant and I think that seems assured. It's one of the most striking coins yet to come out of this land which produces seemingly endless numismatic "goodies."

A collector version, with polished surface and housed in a custom case, will be offered in the fall. It is expected to sell for $10 Canadian or $7.50 U.S., but it won't be included in the Canadian Mint's regular proof or uncirculated sets.

When the $100 gold dollar is produced, Cartier will become one of only two individuals ever honored on two different Canadian coins (except for the monarchs).

Children as young as nine years old are coming of "computer age" in a special

Chaffey High plans 20th reunion for class of '64

Chaffey High School is planning a 20-year reunion for the class of 1964 on Saturday, Aug. 11, at Griswold's Inn, Claremont.

The dinner and dance will be held in the Pavillion Room beginning with a no-host cocktail at 6:30 p.m. and followed by a prime rib dinner at 8.

Music and entertainment will be provided by disc jockey, Scotty McKay.

Advance reservations are Central School District summer program at Cucamonga Junior High School.

The children appear to be entering the age with ease.

required and can be made by contacting Kathy Armstrong Guthrie at 986-5363.

Nancy Perryman Ahlswede, chairwoman for the event, said search efforts for classmates are continuing. Anyone with information on former classmates' whereabouts should contact Guthrie or Ahlswede.

Ticket price includes dinner, entertainment, memory book and two complimentary wallet photographs.

"I'm working on low resolution graphics," explained Adam Whisenand, eighth grader.

"I've learned how to program, graph and tab from each tab...a lot of things. It's a neat class. I was in the program last year," said Rusty Perry, a sixth grader.

The 116 youngsters in the class range in expertise from beginning to advanced.

Each of the four consecutive classes mixes youngsters from various knowledge levels.

Nevertheless, in each class, students receive the same experience.

Rosa Gallardo teaches the four courses, with assistance from computer aide Mara Alexander.

Students learn different aspects of computer programming and some word processing in the summer program, now in its third year.

"There's a lot for them to do," explained Gallardo.

"They're going so quickly, it's just amazing to me," said Alexander.

Seven of the 40 students in the advanced group are writing their own games and working on complex programs.

Alexander said she thinks the youngsters could sell their games if they complete them.

"The interesting thing about this class is that you don't have to tell students to get busy. They thirst for knowledge," said Gallardo.

"There seems to be a need for the program," she added.

Gallardo said she thinks it's important youngsters get exposed to computers.

"If they get it now, there'll be no need for them to be intimidated in the future," she said.

The program is intended to teach youngsters that computers are a tool students can learn to use.

Gallardo enjoys teaching the course as much as the students enjoy taking it.

"It's fun to watch them work. They're enthusiastic. I haven't had one that wasn't enthusiastic." □

Try 1981 Silverado Cabernet Sauvignon

By Dan Berger
Copley News Service

Assorted notes about wines and wine competitions ...

I have a friend who is an opinionated wine lover. (That may be redundant.) He is certain of his conclusions about which wines are great and which are faulty, and he doesn't mind sharing them.

And most often he is right. He has a fine palate, and he knows quite a bit about the technical side of wine making. So when he called the other day, I knew he had discovered something.

"Taste the 1981 Silverado Cabernet Sauvignon," he said. "It's a perfect example of balance, and it will age beautifully. I bought four cases of it."

"I tasted it some months ago, and recommended it in my column," I said. "Not only that, it received silver medals at both the Riverside wine competition and the San Diego National competition."

"And those tasters probably would have given 1945 Chateau Latour a bronze," he replied, icily.

I asked him the setting in which he had tasted the 1981 Silverado.

"In my dining room, an hour before dinner, and then with dinner," he said.

"Not in a flight of 150 Cabernets?" I asked, mockingly. "Now, that's not very sporting of you."

MORE DELICACY: Chardonnays that contain residual sugar and high alcohols once were favored by wine consumers, but that may be a thing of the past if results of major wine competitions are any indication.

In the last few weeks, Chardonnays of lightness and delicacy have been rewarded at major wine competitions. The perfect example of this may be seen in the results of the Chardonnay classes at the San Diego and Riverside judgments.

The 1982 Chateau Ste. Michelle, 1981 Clos du Bois Flintwood, 1982 San Martin, 1981 Christian Brothers and 1981 Dry Creek Vintners Reserve all won gold medals. All are relatively lighter-styled wines — though the Dry Creek has plenty of "stuffing."

The biggest surprise of all, however, was the good showing of two 1982 Franciscan Chardonnays — those designated Napa Estate Bottled, and Alexander Valley, Vintner Grown. Both won gold medals at Riverside, and the latter designation won a silver at San Diego.

By comparison, Franciscan's Reserve Chardonnay, which is bigger, richer and more opulent, didn't win a gold or silver medal at either fair.

DRINKING WINE: After tasting some 200 Cabernets as a judge at the San Francisco Exposition and Fair wine judging, I flew home and had a beer. It was refreshing.

But that evening's dinner called for a Cabernet, and rummaging around in my cellar I came up with the perfect choice. It was a 1979 Mill Creek Cabernet, a wine that sells for all

The torch cometh

More than a torch burned in Upland Monday.

Hearts were aflame with the spirit of the moment — a day most people said was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

The Olympic torch, carried across the United States from the site of the ancient Olympic games in Greece was relayed through Upland toward Ontario, one leg of its zigzag course toward the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Entering Upland a minute or two before 8 a.m., the torch was accompanied by the caravan of vehicles that have followed the relay across the country.

By the time the torch came down Euclid Avenue at 8:35 a.m., thousands of people were crowded in front the City Hall hoping for a glimpse at the runner as he approached. Trumpet fanfares, the release of balloons and the national anthem greeted the relay runner.

As many as 10,000 people watched the torch go through town, some of them arriving hours before the torch was expected.

A pack of Cub Scouts from Rialto arrived on the scene at 5 a.m. to adorn trees near City Hall with patriotic streamers. "It was a little hard to get them moving," said the scouts' Den mother, Alice Brehm, of Rialto. "I think that's pretty good for 9- and 10-year-olds."

Brehm echoed the day's often heard line: "It was a chance of a lifetime."

Normally busy morning traffic across Foothill Boulevard and Euclid Avenue slowed to a halt as spectators, often as many as 100 deep, pressed toward the curb.

Each of the bystanders had their own reasons for wanting to see the torch.

Upland resident Nallie Latona, 49, brought her grandchildren, William and Chad Rebitz (age 7 and 6, respectively), to see the torch because of "the Olympic spirit."

Like many of the spectators, Latona rose early to find a choice viewing place. She said the early hour had not deterred her grandsons' spirits.

"They were up before I was," Latona said.

Latona, who had outfitted the two boys with American flags, was excited about the large crowd for the event.

"Nothing ever happens in Upland," said Latona, smiling. "There has not been this many people out for anything that Upland does."

June and Dean Love, owners of the Upland World Travel agency, saw the large crowds as a sign that more large events should be planned in Upland.

"I'm a little surprised at the number of people," June Love said.

Love, active the Upland Chamber of Commerce, said that she had hoped that the torch route might have included a portion of the downtown business district.

"We thought it would be nice if they would make a little jog and come down past the kiosk (in the center of town)," Love added.

Herald trumpeters Mark Capalbo and Jon Trautwine, both from Upland, announced the torch's arrival much the same way they will Saturday, when they perform at the opening ceremonies. Pointing the long brass bells of their trumpets skyward, Capalbo and Trautwine sounded a fanfare as the runner made his way toward City Hall.

"We're just a couple of spirited guys," said Capalbo. Both he and Trautwine are senior music majors at Cal State Northridge. □ of $8.50.

It matched well with the food, it was not overbearing and it offered a respite for my tired palate. This is a wine that has won its share of bronze medals, and rarely any golds. It is simply not rich enough.

But medals don't always tell the tale about which wines are good drinking. This one is.

AMAZING SHERRY: It may be safely said that Darrel Corti, wine merchant with Corti Bros. of Sacramento, knows more about ports and sherries than any man in America.

So when he judges a sherry to be of gold-medal quality, it is exceptional. And that was Corti's comment when his panel awarded a gold medal to a 1963 (that is correct, 21 years old) sherry from Trentadue Winery in Sonoma.

Entered in the medium-sweet classification in the Riverside Fair, the wine showed richness without any of the oxidative qualities often found in such wines.

Corti and his panel also awarded a gold medal to a fine, rich Limited Reserve Port from the small Mount Palomar Winery in Temecula, in southern Riverside County.

Both are superb achievements, said Corti, and I concur.

"It's hot, so I'm giving my appliances the afternoon off. I use them before noon and after 6 p.m. Because if I don't, Edison has to build costly new power plants. I don't want them to do that. I'd rather help them save money, so I'll have more to spend on skydiving.

Little League champs set for tourney

All three Upland Little League champions will be in action in the District 23 Tournament of Champions which begins at seven different sites on Monday.

Upland National will be the site of the 5:30 p.m. contest pitting host Anthony's Furniture against the West End Sheriff's Reserves, Ontario Eastern titlist.

Upland American's Winston's Sporting Goods will be on the road for the first round contest. The American champion will face the unbeaten Lockheed Yankees of Ontario International at 7 p.m. at Lundquist Field on the Ontario High School campus.

Upland's third entry in the annual tourney, Steve's Carpet Cleaning of Upland Foothill, will also travel for the opener. Gonzalez Construction of Ontario Central will host the 6 p.m. game at Bud Eldridge Field, located behind John Galvin Park.

Other first round games in the tourney include Montclair National's Hubert's Alternators against Ramona Village Market of Chino National at Don Lugo High School, 5:30 p.m.; Straw Hat Pizza of Chino American at Montclair Eastern, 7 p.m.; Straw Hat Pizza of Montclair Central at Chino Hills against Sheridan Orthodontics, 7:30 p.m.; Veterans of Foreign Wars of Ontario National against Wayne Vasie Trucking of Ontario Mountain View at Latimer Field, 7 p.m.

In the on-going District 23 All-Star Tournament, all three Upland teams have been eliminated. Both the National and American teams won three games in the double-elimination format, while the Foothill squad ended with a 2-2 record.

Foothill advanced to the winner's bracket quarterfinals before dropping a 9-3 decision to Ontario Eastern, rolling wins of 4-0 over Ontario Central and 5-4 over rival National in the process. But Foothill was ousted in its first loser's bracket game, a 9-3 decision to Chino National.

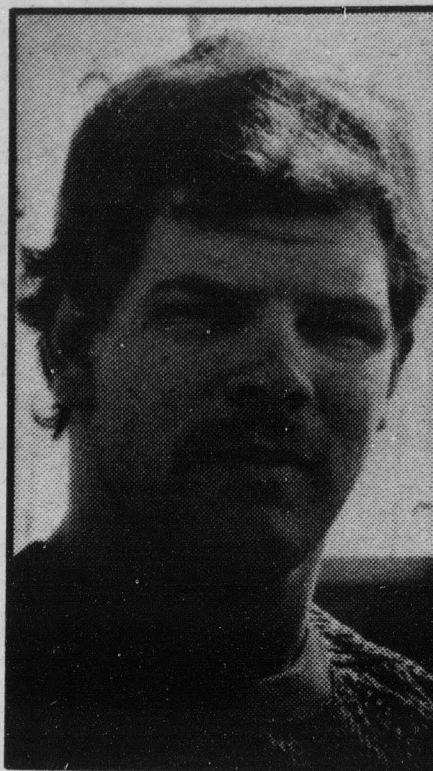

After a 8-0 win over Montclair National, National was sidetracked by its loss to rival Foothill. But in the loser's bracket, National posted a 9-5 win over Ontario International and a 21-0 laughter over Chino Hills before dropping a 2-0 verdict to Ontario Western.

Upland American lost its first round game to Chino American by a 2-0 score. But the team rebounded to register wins over Ontario Mountain View (5-3), Montclair National (22-4) and Ontario National (10-1) before being eliminated by Chino National (4-3).

Kevin Fuller was the manager of the Upland American all-star team, with Bob Stout acting as coach. Champion Winston's Sporting Goods had Jeff Curty, Grant Vermillion, Pete Raisbeck and Nathan Wroebel on the squad, with Jeff Smith, Jonas Ulrich and Jess Evans representing Fence Craft.

Omar Venable from Greenwich Insurance was on the squad, as was Bubby McCoy of Upland Lions, Dan Pellicciotti of Pomona First Federal and Erik Kidd from Chick's Sporting Goods.

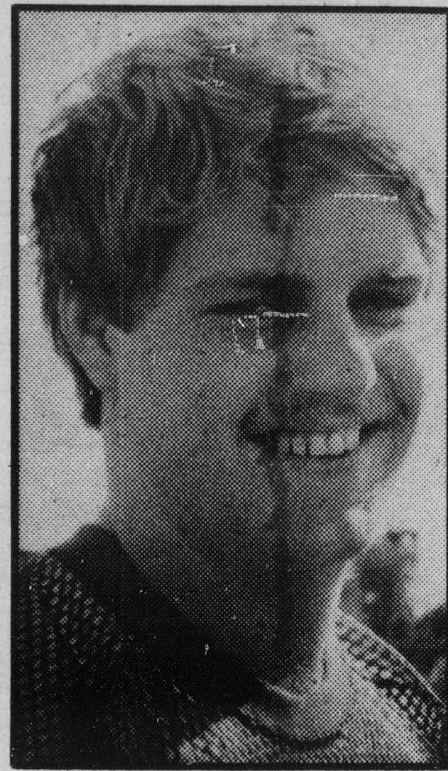

Chuck Hunter, Ramdy McCrary and Justin Davis of Upland Police completed the team.

Upland football trio in Hall of Fame game

Four West Valley prep football stars from last season are ready for the fifth annual National Football Foundation Hall of Fame Game Friday.

Included in the quartet are Upland's trio of Bill Windhorn, Mike Klein and Nick Skvarna along with Don Lugo's Barry Kidney. All are members of the East squad which will face the West at 8 p.m. at Arroyo High School's Bergstrom Stadium in El Monte.

Coaches are Ganesha's Dave Huey for the East and Maranatha's Greg Ireland of the West.

Windhorn, a 6-foot-2, 205-pounder, is likely to fill a linebacking spot with the East squad. He is headed for Cal State Fullerton on a full-ride scholarship this fall and reports for Titan practice Aug. 6.

Teammate Mike Klein (6-0, 195) also figures to man a linebacking slot for the East. Klein plans to play for Mt. San Antonio College and coach Mal Eaton this fall.

Skvarna (6-0, 175) could see double duty as a defensive back and placekicker. It might be the last bit of grid action for Skvarna, who plans to attend UCLA in the fall and play soccer.

However, Skvarna says he has not ruled out the possibility of trying out as a walk-on kicker for coach Terry Donahue's Bruins.

Kidney (6-1, 205), who is headed for Mt. San Antonio College in the fall, figures to play strong safety for the East. He also has experience at fullback and quarterback.

The players have practiced for a two-week period at Mt. San Antonio College.

New bowling center to offer state-of-the-art equipment

By Ron Witt

Area bowlers soon will be able to get their kicks on old Route 66 in Upland.

Work has begun on a modern, 40-lane Brunswick Bowling Center at a site on East Foothill Blvd., located just a quarter-mile west of the Euclid Avenue intersection.

Completion is tentatively set for November or December.

The Center itself will cover

36,000 square feet and encompass 3.2 acres of the 10.4-acre plot. The remainder of the land will be developed with restaurants and a fountain.

There will be parking for 220 cars.

"It'll be a first-class operation," says Brunswick representative Barney Vehige. "It's the first, all-new, 40-lane bowling complex to have Colorvision, fast ball return systems, and System 3000 Lanes for uniform bowling conditions."

Vehige said Upland was chosen for the facility because of the city's growth pattern and because of the potential bowlers in the area.

Upland's bowling facility will present the latest state-of-the-art equipment to attract customers.

Included in the features are:

- Automatic Colorvision scoring, which will be

Warner in training program

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO. — Bonny Warner of Mt. Baldy is taking part in the final stage of the United States Women's Field Hockey Olympic Development Program at the Miller High Life-sponsored Olympic Training Center through Sunday.

Some 90 players are participating in the A Development Camp, which is the highest level of development. The camp will be divided up into sex teams for the Pikes Peak Tournament which will also be held at the Training Center.

Selections on the A Camp were based on the athletes' performances during the B Camp held this past week.

The 22-year-old Warner is a film and broadcast major at Stanford University. A unique athlete attending the field hockey camp, as she was also a member of the 1984 Winter Olympic Team in the sport of the Luge.

A nine-year veteran of field hockey, she was named MVP, all-conference goalkeeper, and team captain for the 1984-85 season. She is currently on the U.S. National Squad as a field hockey goalkeeper.

A four-year veteran in luge, Bonny is seeded first of the women lugers in the U.S. She has competed against various national luge teams and finished 15th in the 1984 Winter Olympics in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia.

The daughter of Joy Warner and Michael Warner, Bonny plans on continuing her education while competing in both luge and field hockey.

The U.S. Olympic Training Center has accommodated over 50,000 potential Olympians since its opening in 1977. Located at the former Ent Air Force Base, this 34-acre facility is supported by a $3 million commitment by the Miller Brewing Company.

Upland Pony team opens

Upland's 14-year-old Pony League team will begin play tonight in the Sectional Tournament currently underway at Hawkins Field. The hosts will play the High Desert at 8 p.m.

According to tournament director Bill Rendo, three games have already been played, including Wednesday night's contest between Chino Blue and Fontana. Rialto was a 3-1 winner over Ontario in a game Monday night.

Rialto will face the winner of the San Bernardino-Riverside game (which was played Tuesday night) on Friday at 8 p.m., while the winner of tonight's game will face the winner of the Chino Blue/Fontana game on Saturday at 5. The 2 p.m. game Saturday will pit Ontario against the San Bernardino/Riverside loser. Tonight's loser will face the Chino Blue/Fontana loser at 11 a.m. on Saturday.

New bowling center planned displayed on overhead screens;

- An automatic, league record-keeping system;
- An area in which to teach people how to bowl and to improve their games;
- Video equipment, available for instant analysis of bowlers' techniques;
- A pro shop where customers may be fitted for bowling balls and drilling accomplished on the spot.

The center will also have a playroom for children and an attendant to keep an eye on the youngsters while mothers bowl.

In addition, there will be a cocktail lounge, snack bar, billiard room and video game room.

Vehige said he wasn't sure if the new center would attempt to land any pro bowling tournaments, but noted, "It'll be big enough for that purpose. If people wanted a state or city tournament, the facility is large enough to accommodate it."

League sign-ups will be accepted as soon as an office trailer is located at the site.

Gardening isn't always fun

By Patrick Denton
Copley News Service

About this time, most of us are gladly enjoying our gardens, relaxing in the scents and colors of summer. The gathering of flowers and vegetables for the house hardly seems a chore, such is the satisfaction of reaping what we have sown and affirming those ancient ties that bind mankind to the earth.

Much of the normal upkeep of the summer garden is an investment in its general health and in the quality of the flower, fruit and vegetable yields still to come.

For example, keeping the garden generally clean and free of debris is the single most effective preventive measure possible against insect pests and disease. It's in those dark, warm and moist places under dead and fallen vegetation that disease organisms and families of insect pests flourish and multiply.

Any vegetable waste that is healthy should be consigned to the compost heap, while anything that looks diseased or suspicious should be burned or put in the garbage. Being just a little bit watchful while you're cleaning the garden can be a great help in maintaining its health.

Keeping the weeds at bay is another good investment in easier gardening seasons to come. Allowing weeds to seed themselves in the garden unfortunately ensures a tedious load of future work. Stay at it, removing any mature weeds to the fire or garbage unless you know your compost heap heats to a temperature minimum of 158 F (70 C) — a temperature that is attained in very few home garden compost piles, in cool summer areas at least.

Careful watering is another condition of a productive and healthy garden. A nurseryman recently said to me that short, shallow watering was the cause of almost all failures of nursery stock to thrive in the home garden. "People just don't know how to water," he said.

Too often you can see home gardeners standing beside a vegetable patch or flower garden, watering it by hand with a garden hose. Unless that gardener is gifted with the superhuman patience to stand there for as long as it takes to give each area a thorough and deep soaking, the inevitable result will be a garden soil that looks nice and moist on the surface but that is powder dry underneath.

In such a situation, plant roots must stay near the surface to get at the meager amounts of available water, and shallow roots make for a weak and defenseless plant. It pays to test the moisture of the garden's subsoil now and then with a knife or a long, thin trowel to make sure you're not watering too shallowly. Once an area has been deeply soaked with a sprinkler, preferably in the morning, it can be left until the top inch or so has dried, for then it will dry from the surface down unless tree roots are a problem.

A consistently moist root area is of most crucial importance to plants whose fruits are swelling and ripening — peas, tomatoes, berries, bush and tree fruits. This is when the soil that houses the roots needs to be kept not sodden, but evenly moist so that fruits and vegetables can expand properly and ripen to a satisfactory juiciness.

Other routine measures that will help keep the garden in good order include the faithful removing of spent flower blossoms. In annual flowers especially, this measure helps ensure a long season of bloom. Some, like alyssum and linaria, can be sheared back and fed for a second big flush of bloom.

Picking vegetables while they are young and tender will also help to ensure that the plants will continue in reproduction. Leaving beans, most cucumbers, summer squash and peas on the plants pushes them into the seed-making business, at the expense of any further young delectables for the kitchen.

PETS

Q. Last year our mare delivered a dead filly foal. She had the foal at night when no one was around to watch her. Our veterinarian told us that if someone had been present to help the mare and foal, it might have been possible to save the filly.

The mare is pregnant again and due to foal in a couple of months. How can we be more precise in knowing when the mare is going to foal?

A. It is often difficult, if not impossible, to predict precisely when a particular mare is going to foal. The duration of pregnancy in horses is variable. It is usually between 320 and 360 days.

Although most people calculate the expected date of parturition as 11 calendar months from the last breeding, it is not uncommon or abnormal for 12 full months to elapse between breeding and foaling in some mares.

Male foals are carried 1 to 2 days longer than female foals. Foals born from January through April have gestation periods about 10 days longer than foals born from May through September. It appears that the fetus itself dictates the duration of pregnancy. Whenever the uterine environment is no longer suitable for the development of the foal, the mare is stimulated to give birth.

One of the earliest indications of approaching parturition in the mare is development of the mammary glands. The udder starts to noticeably increase in size about 3 to 6 weeks before foaling. The udder becomes distended with colostrum about 2 days prior to foaling and oozing of this colostrum, "waxing," from the teats can be observed in approximately 95 percent of mares 6 to 48 hours before foaling.

Usually, within 4 hours of parturition, slight sweating in the flank region and behind the elbows can be seen. The mare usually will not eat within 1 to 2 hours of foaling.

As the preparatory stage of parturition advances, the mare becomes restless, shows signs of abdominal pain, switches her tail and lies down and gets up more frequently than usual. The mare may stretch as if to urinate and have small bowel movements frequently.

During the latter part of the preparatory stage of foaling, the mare may roll back and forth. This rolling helps rotate the foal into the normal position for birth.

All of these signs become progressively more intense until the water bag ruptures and the mare gets into actual labor.

If these signs are seen for longer than 4 hours and it is not apparent that the foal is going to be born very soon, the mare should be examined by a veterinarian to ascertain if the foaling is normal.

Because it is difficult to predict precisely when a particular mare is going to foal, many veterinarians now induce foaling with drugs. Elective induction of foaling ensures the presence of professional assistance at the time of foaling.

The criteria used to determine if a mare is ready for induction include: the length of pregnancy, udder development and genital tract relaxation.

The length of pregnancy should be near 330 days to ensure complete maturation of the foal. Foals born prior to this time are often immature. The udder should be well developed and contain colostrum at the time of induction. It is a disaster to have a foal born to a mare without milk.

The cervix, opening of the uterus, should be relaxed and easily dilatable prior to induction.

With most treatment regimens, the foal is born approximately one-half hour following injection of the mare. It must be remembered that anything that can go wrong at a natural parturition can also go wrong at induced parturition.

The induction process, itself, usually does not cause problems that would not have been present if the mare had been allowed to foal naturally.

In the wine pavilion, a jazz trio will perform nightly.

ORDINANCE NO. 1344

AN ORDINANCE OF THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF UPLAND ADOPTING THE PLAN ATTACHED HERETO AS EXHIBIT "1" AND INCORPORATED HEREIN BY REFERENCE AS THE OFFICIAL REDEVELOPMENT PLAN FOR THE ARROW-BENSON REDEVELOPMENT PROJECT AREA, AN AREA SPECIFICALLY DESCRIBED IN THAT PLAN.

A. Recitals.
(i) By its Resolution No. 3436, this Council has acknowledged receipt of Resolution No. 6-84 of the Upland Community Redevelopment Agency ("Redevelopment Agency" hereinafter), which resolution concerned a redevelopment plan for the Redevelopment Agency's Arrow-Benson Redevelopment Project Area. In its Resolution No. 6-84, the Redevelopment Agency consented to hold a joint public hearing with this Council in regard to the plan for redeveloping said project area in accordance with Health and Safety Code Section 33458 and directed the Executive Director and Secretary of the Redevelopment Agency to cause the notices of that joint public hearing required by law to be given upon this Council consenting to and setting the day, hour and place for that hearing.

(ii) By its Resolution No. 3436, the Council consented to hold a joint public hearing with the Redevelopment Agency in regard to a plan for the Arrow-Benson Redevelopment Project Area, at which hearing any and all persons having any objections to said plan, or the regularity of any prior proceedings, would be allowed to appear before this Council and show cause why the redevelopment plan for said project area should not be adopted. Said Resolution determined that said joint public hearing would occur at 7:00 p.m. on July 2, 1984, in the Council Chambers, Upland City Hall, 460 North Euclid Avenue, Upland, California.

(iii) Notice of said joint public hearing has been given by publication and by mailing as required by Health and Safety Code Section 33452. Said notices all were timely published and mailed.

(iv) The Redevelopment Agency heretofore has requested that the Planning Commission of the City of Upland render a report and recommendation to the Redevelopment Agency with respect to the plan for the Arrow-Benson Redevelopment Project. By Resolution, the Planning Commission rendered its report and recommendation that said plan conforms to the City of Upland's General Plan and that said plan should be adopted.

(v) A copy of the redevelopment plan for the Arrow-Benson Redevelopment Project referred to herein is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "1", incorporated herein by reference and hereinafter is referred to as "the redevelopment plan." The redevelopment plan specifically describes the boundaries of said project area.

(vi) The joint public hearing referred to above was duly concluded prior to the first reading of this ordinance and, at said joint public hearing, this Council considered the redevelopment plan.

(viii) All legal prerequisites to the passage of this ordinance have occurred.

B. Ordinance.
NOW, THEREFORE, the Council of the City of Upland does hereby find, determine and ordain as follows:

Section 1.
All facts set forth in the Recitals, Part A, of this ordinance hereby are found to be true and correct.

Section 2.
An Environmental Impact Report has been prepared on the subject of the redevelopment plan in accordance with the provisions of the California Environmental Quality Act, California Public Resources Code Sections 2100 et seq. and in accordance with the regulations promulgated thereunder, and this Council has considered the contents of that Environmental Impact Report in considering the adoption of the redevelopment plan and the passage of this ordinance.

Section 3.
The Arrow-Benson Redevelopment Project Area ("the Project Area" hereinafter) is a blighted area, the development of which is necessary to effectuate the public purposes declared in Health and Safety Code, Division 24, Part 1.

Section 4.
The development plan would redevelop the Project Area in conformity with Health and Safety Code, Division 24, Part 1, and in the interests of the public peace, health, safety and welfare.

Section 5.
The adoption and carrying out of the redevelopment plan is economically sound and feasible.

Section 6.
The redevelopment plan conforms to the General Plan of the City of Upland.

Section 7.
The carrying out of the redevelopment plan would promote the public peace, health, safety and welfare of the City of Upland and would effectuate the purposes and policy of Health and Safety Code, Division 24, Part 1.

Section 8.
The condemnation of real property by the Redevelopment Agency is not provided for in the redevelopment plan. Adequate provisions have been made for payment for property to be acquired by other means.

Section 9.
While displacement of residents is not contemplated, the Redevelopment Agency has a feasible method and plan for the relocation of families and persons displaced from the Project Area if the redevelopment plan should result in the temporary or permanent displacement of any occupants of housing facilities in the Project Area.

Section 10.
While displacement of residents is not contemplated, there are or are being provided in the Project Area or in other areas not generally less desirable in regard to public utilities and public and commercial facilities and at rents or prices within the financial

Section 11.
While displacement of residents is not contemplated, this Council is satisfied that permanent housing facilities will be available within three (3) years from the time occupants of the Project Area, if any, are displaced and that pending the development of such facilities there will be available to such displaced occupants adequate temporary housing facilities at rents comparable to those in the City of Upland at the time of their displacement.

Section 12.
There are no noncontiguous areas of the Project Area and all areas of the Project Area are either blighted or necessary for effective redevelopment and are not included for the purpose of obtaining the allocation of taxes from such area pursuant to Health and Safety Code Section 33670 without other substantial justification for their inclusion.

Section 13.
Inclusion within the Project Area of any lands, buildings or improvements which are not detrimental to the public health, safety or welfare is necessary for the effective redevelopment of the Project Area, any such area included is necessary for effective development and is not included for the purpose of obtaining the allocation of tax increment revenues from such area pursuant to California Health and Safety Code Section 33670 without other substantial justification for its inclusion.

Section 14.
The elimination of blight and the development of the Project Area could not be reasonably expected to be accomplished by private enterprise acting alone without the aid and assistance of the Redevelopment Agency.

Section 15.
The purposes and intent of this Council with respect to the Project Area is to protect and promote the sound development of the Project Area and the general welfare of the inhabitants of the City of Upland by remedying the injurious conditions presently existing in the Project Area and by providing needed public facilities in the Project Area through the employment of all appropriate means.

Section 16.
This Council is convinced that the effect of tax increment financing will not cause a severe financial burden or detriment on any taxing agency deriving revenues from the Project Area.

Section 17.
This Council hereby approves and adopts the redevelopment plan attached hereto as Exhibit "1" and incorporated herein by reference and designates said plan as the official redevelopment plan for the Project Area.

Section 18.
This Council hereby authorizes and provides for the City of Upland's expenditure of money provided for in the redevelopment plan.

Section 19.
This Council hereby declares its intention to undertake and complete any proceedings necessary to be carried out by the City of Upland under the provisions of the redevelopment plan.

Section 20.
The City Clerk of the City of Upland ("City Clerk" hereinafter) shall cause a copy of this ordinance to be transmitted to the Redevelopment Agency and to the Building Department of the City of Upland.

Section 21.
The Building Department of the City of Upland is hereby directed to advise all applicants for building permit in the Project Area for a period of two (2) years after the adoption of this ordinance that the site for which a building permit is sought for the construction of buildings or for other improvements is within a redevelopment project area.

NOTICE OF LIEN FOR DELINQUENT ASSESSMENTS

NOTICE OF DEFAULT AND ELECTION TO SELL

IMPORTANT NOTICE:
IF YOUR PROPERTY IS IN FORECLOSURE BECAUSE YOU ARE BEHIND IN YOUR PAYMENTS, IT MAY BE SOLD WITHOUT ANY COURT ACTION, and you may have the legal right to bring your account in good standing by paying all of your past due payments plus permitted costs and expenses within three months from the date this notice of default was recorded. The amount is $1,405.30 as of June 1, 1984, and will increase until your account becomes current. You may not have to pay the entire unpaid portion of your account, even though full payment was demanded but you must pay the amount stated above. After three months from the date of recording of this document (which date of recording appears hereon), unless the obligation being foreclosed upon permits a longer period, you have only the legal right to stop the foreclosure by paying the entire amount demanded by your creditor. To find out the amount you must pay, or to arrange for payment to stop the foreclosure, or if your property is in foreclosure for any other reason, contact:

Orchard Lane Homeowners Association, 1590 N. Park Avenue, Post Office Box 2863, Pomona, California, telephone (714) 623-8671.

If you have any questions, you should contact a lawyer or the government agency which may have insured your loan.

Remember, YOU MAY LOSE LEGAL RIGHTS IF YOU DO NOT TAKE PROMPT ACTION.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that in accordance with the Declaration of Covenants, Conditions and Restrictions recorded on February 8, 1972, in Book 7854, page 436 et seq. of the official records of the County Recorder of San Bernardino County, there is a lien upon the property owned by DANIEL CHAGOLLA, and described as:
